¹ Some countries recognize that the NGSV will establish where appropriate supplementary disciplines for specific sectors; or special disciplines for specific sectors such as movement of natural persons, telecommunications, international transportation and tourism; or specialized provisions for financial services.

² Some countries consider that aspects related to “mode 3” of the GATS “commercial presence” should be considered by the Negotiating Group on Investment. Channels of communication should be opened between the NGSV and the NGIN to ensure consistency and avoid duplication with respect to investment-related aspects of the Services and Investment Chapters.

³ One country recognizes that the NGSV will continue discussion of the possibility of establishing specific provisions for sub-national measures.

⁴ The final drafting of this text, including the definition of “state enterprise” will need to be conformed to that used in the Government Procurement Chapter.

- d) by [[natural persons] [a national] of a Party] [a service supplier of a Party through the presence of natural persons] in the territory of any other Party.

[1.8. The comprehensiveness of the coverage shall be linked to the extent and rate at which the modes of supply for the provision of services are liberalized. In this regard, special attention shall be given to the particular interests of smaller economies in liberalizing those sectors and modes important to the facilitation of their development needs.]

[1.9. No provision of this Chapter shall be construed to prevent a Party from having the right to regulate and to introduce new regulations to achieve domestic policy objectives.]

[2.7. (a) When [a smaller economy is a party][developing countries are parties] to an agreement of the type [mentioned][referred to] in paragraph 2.5, flexibility shall be provided for regarding [the requirement of substantial liberalization][the conditions set out in said paragraph, particularly with reference to sub-paragraph (b) thereof], in accordance with [their][the] level of development [and national economic objectives] [of the countries concerned, both overall and in individual sectors and subsectors];

⁵ Some countries understand this condition in terms of the number of sectors, volume of trade affected, and modes of supply. To meet this condition, the agreements shall not provide for the a priori exclusion of any mode of supply.

[Temporary Entry of Business Persons¹⁵

General Principles

Provisions on temporary entry are a gauge of the preferential trade between the Parties, the expediency of facilitating temporary entry to business persons in conformity with the principle of reciprocity and the need to establish transparent criteria and procedures for this purpose. These provisions recognize the need to guarantee the security of borders, particularly with respect to entry, through points authorized for migratory transit, as well as the right to protect the work of their nationals and permanent employment in their territories, in accordance with their respective domestic legislation.

General Obligations

1.- Each Party shall apply procedures for the facilitation of the temporary entry of business persons in conformity with the abovementioned general principles. In particular, Parties shall apply them swiftly to avoid undue delay or injury to trade in goods and services, or in the investment activities covered in the FTAA.

2.- The Parties shall develop and adopt common criteria, definitions and interpretations for the implementation of this section.

Authorization of Temporary Entry

1.- Each Party shall authorize the temporary entry of business persons who comply with migration requirements and the other applicable public health, safety, and national security procedures.

2.- Whenever a Party refuses to issue an immigration document authorizing activity or employment, in accordance with paragraph 2, that Party:

- a) shall inform the business person affected, in writing, of the reasons for the refusal; and
- b) shall notify without delay, and in writing, the reasons for the refusal to the Party whose national is being denied entry.

3.- Each Party shall limit the amount of the fees for processing applications for temporary entry to the approximate cost of the services provided.

4.- The temporary entry of a business person does not confer authorization to practice a profession, unless there is an agreement to this effect between the Party of origin of the business person and the host Party.

¹⁵ Some delegations do not agree on the placement of this text. Several delegations require further time for reflection on this proposal.

Availability of information

1.- Each Party:

- a) will provide its immigration legislation, particularly that applicable to business persons; and
- b) no later than the date of entry into force of this agreement, shall prepare, publish and make available to interested parties in its territory and in the territory of the other Party, a consolidated document that explains the requirements for temporary entry in accordance with this proposal¹⁶, such that business persons of the other Party may be apprised of such requirements.

2.- Each Party shall compile, maintain and make available to other Parties, in conformity with its legislation, information on the granting of authorization for temporary entry pursuant to this proposal, to persons of any other Party who were issued with immigration documents. The compilation shall include information for each authorized category.

Dispute settlement

1.- The Parties may not initiate procedures to establish a dispute settlement panel¹⁷ because of a refusal of authorization for temporary entry under this section, unless:

- a) the case refers to a recurring practice; and
- b) the business person affected has exhausted the administrative remedies available to him in respect of the specific matter.

2.- The remedies mentioned in paragraph 1 b) shall be deemed exhausted when the relevant authority has not issued a final ruling within a period of six months from the initiation of the administrative procedure and the ruling has not been delayed for reasons attributable to the business person affected.

Definitions

For the purposes of this proposal:

Temporary entry means the entry of a business person from a Party into the territory of any other Party, without any intention of establishing permanent residence there;

Business person means the citizen of a Party that engages in trade in goods or the provision of services, or in investment activities;

Categories for the Temporary Entry of Business Persons

Participating countries shall agree on the categories of business persons to whom this section shall apply. Such categories may include personnel transfers within a company, business visitors, merchants and investors and professionals and experts.

[Specific mechanisms for temporary entry and definitions of each category will be furnished at a later date].]

Such recognition, which may be achieved through harmonization or otherwise, may be based upon an agreement or arrangement with the country concerned or may be accorded autonomously.
- 2. Where a Party recognizes autonomously or by agreement or arrangement, the education or experience obtained, requirements met or licenses or certifications granted of another Party or a non-Party, nothing in Article xxx (MFN) shall be construed to require the Party to accord such recognition to the education or experience obtained, requirements met or licenses or certifications granted in the territory of another Party.
- 3. A Party that is a party to an agreement or arrangement of the type referred to in paragraph 1, whether existing or future, shall afford adequate opportunity for other interested Parties to negotiate their accession to such an agreement or arrangement or to negotiate comparable ones with it. [Restrictions to Protect the Balance of Payments]¹⁸

1. In the event of serious balance of payments or external financial difficulties or threat thereof, a Party may adopt or maintain restrictions on trade in services with respect to measures covered by the Articles on most favored nation treatment, local presence, national treatment and market access, including payments or transfers for transactions relating to the sectors affected by such measures. It is recognized that certain balance of payments pressures may necessitate the use of restrictions in order to achieve, among other things, the maintenance of a level of financial reserves sufficient to implement its economic development program or economic transition.

2. The restrictions referred to in paragraph 1 supra:

- a) shall not discriminate among Parties;
- b) shall be consistent with the Articles of Agreement of the International Monetary Fund (IMF);
- c) shall avoid unnecessary damage to the commercial, economic and financial interests of the Parties;
- d) shall not exceed those necessary to deal with the circumstances referred to in paragraph 1 supra; and
- e) shall be temporary or shall be phased out progressively as the situation indicated in paragraph 1 supra improves.

3. In determining the incidence of such restrictions, the Parties may give priority to the supply of services that are more essential to their economic or development programs, but such restrictions shall not be adopted or maintained for the purpose of protecting a given service sector.

4. Restrictions adopted or maintained under paragraph 1 supra or any changes therein shall be notified promptly to the Parties.

 - e) In such consultations, all findings of statistical and other facts presented by the IMF relating to foreign exchange, monetary reserves and balance of payments shall be accepted, and conclusions shall be based on the assessment by the IMF of the balance of payments and external financial situation of the consulting Party.]

[Special Safeguards]¹⁹

¹⁸ Some countries believe that the FTAA Chapter on Services should include an article or articles on payments and transfers, as well as safeguards, in the field of balance of payments and will submit a draft proposal for said article(s) at the appropriate time.

1. For the purpose of addressing problematic market conditions in particular service sectors, linked to the creation of new sectors, the correction of structural problems within the market or the threat of the disappearance of service sectors, a Party may adopt safeguard measures in a non-discriminatory manner with the proviso that they will be eliminated gradually as the reason for their adoption disappears. For this purpose, the Party shall notify it to the Committee for Trade in Services and offer evidentiary proof justifying the adoption of such measures.
2. The Committee on Services shall determine, inter alia, the procedures for the implementation of necessary measures in relation to:
 - a) urgent safeguard measures
 - b) trade-distortive subsidies.]

[Subsidies²⁰

1. The factors to consider in the preparation of disciplines on subsidies are: aspects of MFN and national treatment, specificity by type of delivery, territorial application, transparency, the concept of “necessity”, the importance of the “least trade restrictive” concept, neutralizing measures, exceptions, terms for eliminating subsidies, and flexibility for certain countries.
2. The approach for the establishment of disciplines must include:
 - a) general disciplines and
 - b) potential development of specific disciplines by sector.

The disciplines on subsidies in services must reflect:

- a) the prohibition on export subsidies, for example an illustrative list of measures,
- b) the prohibition on causing harm to, or shifts in third markets, with compliance subject to a case by case resolution by the FTAA’s Dispute Settlement System, and
- c) subsidies that are permitted or non-actionable, among which could be considered, for example, subsidies earmarked for services with social benefits.]

[Competition

1. Each Party shall adopt the measures necessary to prevent, avoid and sanction practices that distort competition in the trade in services within its domestic market, including those necessary to ensure that service suppliers established on their territories that enjoy a position of dominance in the market do not abuse their position.

¹⁹ Some countries consider it advisable for the Negotiating Group on Services to examine the issue of safeguards in services.

²⁰ Some countries consider that the FTAA’s future chapter on services should contain specific disciplines related to eliminating and prohibiting subsidies that have distorting effects on the market or that cause shifts in normal trade flows. The Parties shall develop disciplines in order to avoid and counteract the effect of subsidies that distort trade in services. Negotiation of these disciplines shall be concluded no later than the date of the entry into force of the FTAA agreement. Evidence contained in different documents compiled by international organizations indicates that a range in subsidy practices is evident in major service sectors, such as: audiovisual, air and sea transport, tourism, and financial services. The presence of subsidies in insurance, postal services, construction, research and development, and advertising has also been confirmed. The effect of these policies can not be accurately assessed, but there is empirical evidence indicating that these practices with potentially distorting effects are concentrated in certain specific sectors. Some regional integration agreements on goods and services contain specific provisions for establishing certain disciplines on subsidies. Some countries indicated that the main elements of these disciplines are envisaged in document FTAA.ngsv/w/44.

2. The provisions of Article () shall also apply to the cases of exclusive service suppliers, where one of the Parties, whether formally or de facto:
